Cultivating & Leading Engaged Teams

Workshop Description:

Creating and cultivating engagement, with anything, is a true skill. It comes from knowing you can make an impact and that you are continuing to grow as an individual & as a leader. This workshop will provide you with:

- *Five steps of creating an engaged and productive team
- *Understanding of the impact of knowing each person on your team
- *Skills to engage your team with purpose and focus
- *Understanding of the power of clear messaging
- *Ways to recognize performance and create plans to increase the performance of your team members

The first half of the day will be focused on understanding what an engaged team looks like and it's powerful benefits.

The second part of the day will be focused on creating engagement and increasing performance.

We all have those people in our lives. Leaders who inspired us to do big things. Those who we think back on and know it's because of their leadership, we are where we are today. We want you to leave this workshop being one of those people!

Presented by: Jen Griffin

Jen Griffin is a leadership coach to executives & teams who know they are ready to make a leap but find themselves holding back. She distills her extensive experience as a corporate paralegal in high-stakes negotiation, fundraising, and business into build high-performance teams and braver executives. Jen's specialty is coaching her clients through the fear-based mindsets that limit their results and their happiness, so they can motivate themselves to take bigger risks.

After leaving the corporate world, Jen was the Founder & Executive Director of a foundation that offered financial resources for amputee youth in the arts, sports, and education. She developed partnerships and collaborations with Nike, Scottish Rite Hospital, The Food Network, and the Dallas Symphony, to name a few. As an amputee herself, Jen became addicted to overcoming fear and "personal limitations". She has been a speaker, an opinion writer for the Dallas Morning News, and featured on Good Morning Texas, the Huffington Post, Smithsonian Magazine, and others.
